Second Leader Meeting Today

Second topic in a series of four leadership training meetings will be "How to Lead a Group Discussion," according to Don Kortess, series chairman.

Guest speaker will be James Jacobs, assistant professor of English.

The discussion will be held in Room 8 of the Women's gym from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. today, said Joyce Cox, chairman of the meeting.

The series is designed to "help newly-elected officers, potential leaders and even older officers in carrying through the responsibility of their elected positions," said Kortess.

Each campus organization has been invited to send two official delegates, but any student may attend the meetings.

The series is sponsored by the ASB, AWS, A Phi O, junior class, Panhellenic and Student Y.

The talk on Apr. 22 will be a brief summary of parliamentary procedure as it is used in conducting a meeting of the average campus organization. Also a few hints will be given on how to conduct other phases of a meeting.

The Apr. 29 discussion will consider the problems and techniques of giving a talk or presentation.

All meetings are scheduled for the Women's gym.

'Y' To Present Press Talks

"Propaganda, the Press, and the Student" will be the theme of a discussion program to be presented tomorrow night at 7:45 o'clock in Room 24, according to the Rev. James Martin, adviser to the Student Y.

The program, which is sponsored by the Student Y's Committee on Effective Citizenship, will consist of a short talk by Dr. Dwight Bentel, head of the Journalism department, and a student panel discussion.

Ski Club Plans Annual Rivalry

An important Ski club meeting will be held tonight at 7:45 o'clock in Room S112, according to Bill Cancilla, president of the organization. Members will discuss and make plans for the annual club championship competition, to be held this weekend at Sugar Bowl and Soda Springs.

The big skiing event will be divided into three divisions—Open, Intermediate and Novice—Cancilla said. In the Open division, men and women will compete for a first place perpetual trophy awarded each year. Trophies will be awarded to first place winners in all divisions, with second and third place winners receiving medals.

Also on the agenda for tonight's meeting is nomination of officers for the coming year, the election to be held the following week, Cancilla stated. Spring skiing plans and a spring party for all members also will be discussed, he said.

The Weather

Characterizing the weather of late in the Santa Clara valley as "unprecedented," Sir Updyke, weather propheteer and alleged faith healer, reports that he is recalling from the Sahara desert a warm air mass which he sent there for seasoning last winter. The arrival of this rookie should bolster the valley's chances of having a hot time this spring, somewhat. Until its arrival, Sir Updyke will stick with his present "fair with little change in temperature" line-up.

Zoology Professor To Present African Toad on Television

TV viewers can see Dr. Ralph A. Smith, associate professor of zoology, when he appears on the "Science in Action" broadcast at 7 o'clock this evening over the KGO channel.

Dr. Smith will discuss and display an African clawed toad which he describes as the best "practical" test used to confirm human pregnancies. "There is a recently-developed chemical test which may be better but which is not in wide use as yet," he explained.

"The test is fast, taking about 12 hours, and about 99 per cent accurate," Dr. Smith said.

Dr. Robert Dennis, pathologist at a local hospital, gave Dr. Smith the animal. Dr. Dennis has used one at the hospital for more than two years at the rate of about five tests a week, Dr. Smith said. When the results are affirmative, the female toad lays little black eggs in the bottom of an aquarium, Dr. Smith mentioned.

The species is unusual because it is an entirely aquatic toad, has a smooth skin and is the only known amphibian vertebrate with claws rather than web feet.

"Science in Action" was chosen this year as the most educational program emanating from the West.

Committee members working at the tables are Jean Ann Bailey, Diane Norris, Marilyn Lind, Sandy Waller, Sally Lotz, Mae Stadler, Kay Griffith, Ginny Denson, Maryanne Weisbrod, Bernie Rapley, Joan Harlan and Enid Harte.

Insurance Lecture

"Life Insurance, Past, Present, and Future" will be the subject of Robert Bowman's lecture today in the series of business and economic lectures being given Tuesdays and Thursdays at the college. He will speak at 1:30 p.m. in Room 133.

Cal State Forum Is Next Step

It has become very clear, both by the number of Thrust and Parry letters received in the past week and the general interest shown in classes and around campus, that the students of the college are giving some serious thought to the Cal State issue.

It is no longer an idle whim; it has reached astounding proportions. Outside interests are giving it serious consideration and expressing both favorable and unfavorable opinions.

Innumerable arguments have been given on both sides of the issue. Students and faculty alike have responded to the challenge to express their opinions.

Perhaps as much has been accomplished individually as is possible. The next step would seem to be an open discussion between all those who have shown enough interest to express an opinion. There, everyone could express his views and debate with those who do not agree. Many of the questions that have arisen could then be answered, or at least soundly thrashed out.

Both those for and against the name change have many sound arguments, but there is little chance for rebuttal. Get everyone together in an open forum where they can discuss the advantages and disadvantages, and something concrete is bound to be accomplished.

'Life' Issue of 1939 Reveals Happenings Remote Today

By TOM MARQUIS

Life in 1939 seems almost as remote from life today as if events taking place then had happened on another planet. This fact was driven home very effectively by an article appearing in the Minnesota Daily.

It seems the article's author found a 1939 copy of Life magazine. Here is what the magazine was featuring:

The lead story was a report on Hitler's first imperial conquest. The British were building bombers and bomb shelters, but Prime Minister Chamberlain said, "We need not be down-hearted..."

People remarked how mature Princess Elizabeth looked in full-length stockings.

The movie of the week was "The Castles," with Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers. Wonder of the week in the "Modern Living" section was a new material called "Pliofilm."

Advertisements in 1939 told an optimistic story. Men and women were being exhorted to buy vitamin tablets and reducing tablets, just as they are today. That part remains the same.

A reader of this old Life can't help but wonder what became of some of the people in its pages. Does the "streamlined" evangelist E. Howard Cadle still preach?

Did anyone patent the powder that can cool a can of beer in a minute? (Haven't heard of it myself.)

All in all, the events recorded in the old copy of Life magazine foreshadowed a decade of violence.

Class To Hear Law Professor Wrestling Captain Given AMS Award

A national authority on real property, Professor William Burby, of the USC Law School, will lecture to the Business Law class at 10:30 a.m. Friday, stated J. A. Burger, associate professor of commerce.

The author of several texts and case-books, Professor Burby will speak on laws governing non-completion of contracts. He will outline cases and give definitions of what the courts consider justifiable cause for not fulfilling an agreement.

Professor Burby spoke on California property laws here last spring, Burger said.

Public Relations Secretary Quits

Mrs. Charleen Arnberg, secretary in the Public Relations office since August, left last week for Oakland to be with her husband, William, who is stationed with the Coast Guard at Alameda.

Mrs. Arnberg, the former Charleen Little, graduated from SJS in June, 1951.

Two part-time secretaries, Mrs. Jesena Aiello and Mrs. Diana Meyers, now are working in the office. Mrs. Aiello handles the morning work, while Mrs. Meyers takes care of the office in the afternoon.

Mrs. Meyers, a student in the Journalism department, will be employed full time following her graduation in June.

Frank Waxham, wrestling team captain and three time PCI mat champion, received the Athlete of the Month award for March and Coach Dee Portal's PCI champion boxing team was awarded jackets at the Cotton Pickin' Time student body dance Saturday at the Civic auditorium.

Marv Scarper, AMS president, awarded the Athlete of the Month trophy to Waxham. Candidates for the award had been selected from members of the baseball, boxing and track teams.

The jacket awards were made to Spartan Boxers Al Accurso, Vic Harris, Stan Marcil, Chuck Adkins, Ernie Paramo, Paul Reuter, Darrell Dukes, Bill Mendosa, Jerry Stern, Don Camp and Coach Portal.

Nearly 1000 students attended the affair, the last student body dance of the quarter.

Thrust and Parry

S.J. University?

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Under the skillful guidance of Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie and his administrators we have progressed to become the foremost state college in California. It shall not be too long before we achieve university status.

We all want prestige for San Jose State college. Therefore, to enhance our college, we are contemplating changing the school's name to California State college. But just changing the name does not change the fact that we are still a state college and will be judged one after the name change. Thus the new name will not enhance the college's reputation.

When we eventually become a university, I believe that San Jose university or University of San Jose will be much better than University of California at San Jose.

Sincerely,
Richard Rein

Cal State Woes

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Small controversy has arisen in response to the proposed change of the college's name. It has been pointed out that we have grown—our name can now be changed to California State. We have reached the status of Oregon State, Washington State, and so many other state States!

San Jose State has not been heard of, some say. But every one will know where California State is. Has it not occurred that identification of California State with the city of San Jose must still be retained.

Do you think Oregon people, not to mention people on the other side of the Rockies, will get Cal State confused with Cal Poly, Cal Tech, Cal Aggies, and Perhaps Cal? Did you ever try to find out where Texas City, Texas university, Texas Christian, Texas A&M, Texas A&I, Texas college, Texas Lutheran, Texas College of Mines, Texas Military college, North Texas State, and six other Texas colleges are located? To the average student, doesn't one Texas college sound like the other or others?

Still others state that Michigan has both the University of Michigan and Michigan State; there is Utah and Utah State; Penn and Penn State.

A city name just can't identify the college of place or popularity? Then why doesn't Boston college or Boston university change its name to Massachusetts?

San Jose State gained a name in boxing, wrestling, track, golf and basketball. San Jose State is known in the East, too! The name is not common; it's different than any other college in the United States. That's what's good!

Fairness System

Dear Thrust and Parry:

The Daily editorial of Apr. 9 quotes with approval the suggestion that students be "given a little more trust and a little more representation on the Fairness committee."

The four student representatives on the committee are appointed by the president of the Associated Students. There could be more if the president wished to appoint more. How much more representation do you advocate? Do you know that, on matters about which the committee has been divided, some students and some faculty members have been on one side and some on the other?

The most recent report of the committee, dated April 1951 and distributed to residence houses with ten or more students, contains the following statements:

The committee assumes that "the majority of students and faculty prefer a college where fairness is the accepted standard and believe that the student who wishes to be honest should be made to feel that campus opinion and rules are with him and not against him. There is evidence that at San Jose both faculty and students do tend to respect each other for fairness. Our fairness system is designed to protect and benefit the fair-minded by making explicit what fairness involves, by

JV Tracksters Run Against PAL All-Stars

Spartababe tracksters, riding on a three-meet victory string, will run into stiff competition today when they meet the local Peninsula Athletic league All-Stars on the San Jose High school oval at 3:30.

The local All-Stars, composed of track men from San Jose and Willow Glen high schools, are rated by Spartababe Coach Don Bryant as strong enough to give the jayvees some stiff competition.

Bob Azevedo, will drop down a notch to run the mile and the 880. Azevedo is unbeaten in jayvee competition this season in the mile or two mile.

Bill Stephens and John Bollinger will be entered in the 880. Stephens, running against the Navy Saturday for the varsity, was clocked in 1:59.7 for the half mile.

Golden Raider Linksmen Face California Bear Team Today

Unbeaten in dual match play this season, the Golden Raider golf team clashes with a good California club this afternoon at the San Jose Country club. The squads tee off at 1 o'clock.

San Jose rates as the favorite in today's encounter as California dropped a match to Stanford two weeks ago, 18½ to 8½, while the Spartans upset the undefeated Indians last Friday 16½ to 10½.

Top Bear linksmen is Ted Ames who consistently shoots in the low 70's.

Ken Venturi will lead the local aces against the visitors. The California State Amateur titlist fired a three under par 67 against Stanford ace Fred Brown but lost the match last Friday when the latter posted a torrid 65.

Spartans who won against the Indians and who should repeat against the Bears are Bill King, Gordy Williams and Wally Regan.

SPARTAN DAILY 3

Andy Miller Top Spartan Batsman

Left Fielder Andy Miller is currently the Spartan's top batsman, striking a healthy .313 average so far this season. The veteran outfielder has been to bat 48 times and has pounded out 15 hits, including one double and a pair of triples.

Miller is also the runs-batted-in king, having driven ten Spartans safely home this year. The outer gardener, who led the locals in batting last season with a .310 average, has the most total bases with 20 and is tied with Shortstop Cookie Camara with the most hits at 15.

Following Miller in hitting is Camara with .300, third baseman Bill Pitcher .280 and centerfielder Joe Bonfiglio .275.

Clair Parkin has racked up the most impressive pitching record to date. He has won two games and lost none, has a low earned run average of 0.97 per game and is second in strikeouts to southpaw Johnny Oldham with 25.

Oldham, who has won two and lost one, has fanned 40 batsmen in 37 innings. Freshman Right-hander Doug Boehner (1-1) has the second best earnedrun average with 1.50.

The Spartans play three contests this week. They travel to meet the Alameda Naval Air station nine at Alameda Friday and meet San Francisco State in a doubleheader in Municipal stadium here Saturday afternoon.

The locals split two games with the Gators, last Saturday in San Francisco by scores of 8-2 and 3-4.

Parkin will probably receive the starting role against the Navy team while Oldham, Collins or Boehner will be Coach Walt Williams' choices to stop the San Franciscans.

Hundred Hear Easter Sermon

Despite threatening weather, more than 100 persons were on hand at 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning to take part in Easter services held in the inner quad.

The "sunrise" commemoration of one of Christianity's most sacred occasions was sponsored by Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity, and is one of the organization's traditional presentations.

A prelude on the carillon chimes was followed by an invocation by the Rev. James Martin. A solo, "Open the Gates," was sung by Miss Doris Easterly.

Principal sermon was given by Mac Martinez on the question, "Why Easter?" A scripture reading by Lud Spolyar and benediction by Byron Rose were included in the program.

'Smooching' Fish Features Exhibit

Along with some legless lizards, several tree-climbing frogs, two carnivorous Black Cayman and a recently-hatched green Luna moth, the Science department's "Animal Parade" features a "kissing" Gourami this week.

Readers of Life magazine will remember the full-page colored picture of this little fish "kissing" another specimen. Dr. Ralph A. Smith, associate professor of zoology, explained that whether the animal is really smooching or not is unknown. "He could be angry, or hungry, or cold or tired," Dr. Smith said.

Limbleless lizards are in a glass case which contains sand and brush. "They are distinguished from snakes by the fact that they have eyelids," Dr. Smith stated.

College Drama Major Attains Debate Finals

Bill Resch, freshman drama major, reached the finals last week in the oratory and extemporaneous divisions of the Pacific Invitational tournament held in Stockton Apr. 7 and 8, according to Wilbur F. Luick, director of forensics.

"Although Bill did not place in the finals he did a good job, and I plan to enter him in the William Randolph Hearst Oratory contest in May," Luick said.

Thirty colleges and universities were represented at the annual conference sponsored this year by the College of Pacific and Pi Kappa Delta, honorary forensic fraternity.

Forensic squad members participating in the tournament included Ted Labrenz, George Smith, Bill Tyler and Resch.

My roommates raise a howl—
But when I give them Lucky Strike,
They smile instead of scowl!
